

saturday

10.30AM KIDS' THEATRE

Snow White, The Lighthouse Theatre, Gymnasium Rd, Macquarie University, North Ryde; 10.30am and 1pm, adult $24, child $20, family $74, mca-tix.com.au, mstyp.org.au
Treat the kids to this fun and colourful version of Snow White adapted by Helen Martin. The show is put on by the Marian Street Theatre For Young People.

11AM KIDS

Jazzmatazz!, The Spiegeltent, Hyde Park, City; today and tomorrow, 11am and 1pm, $20, 1300 856 876, sydneyfestival.org.au
Cabaret star Ali McGregor has a 50 minute show full of jazz and pop music to get the 2-10 year olds up singing, dancing and jumping about.

11AM FREE EXHIBITION

Chrysalis, Gaffa Gallery, Level One, 281 Clarence St, City; 11am-5pm, chrysalis2014.weebly.com
More than 20 artists from the Jewellery and Object Studio at the Sydney College Of The Arts are presenting works based around the theme of the chrysalis and their own personal experiences of major change.

NOON

Plunder the high seas

1.45PM FAMILY

Attack Of The Pirates, Sydney Harbour Tall Ships, The Rocks; 1.45pm, 3.15pm, 4.45pm, 6.15pm, adult $79.90, child $59.90, family $249, pirateattack.com.au
Hunt for buried treasure as pirates scheme to take over a tall ship on Sydney Harbour. This one hour interactive production puts you in the centre of the action. The Southern Swan tall ship has undergone a million dollar major restoration, involving more than 140,000 man hours of work and will now become a floating theatre for the pirate show. It will operate at various times Thursday-Sunday during the school holidays and on weekends in February. The show is suitable for kids over 6. A range of food and drink packages are available for purchase when you book.

5.30PM KIDS' FILMS

Little Darlings Night Owl Kids Film Fest, Darling Quarter, Moore Park; until January 23, 5.30pm-late, darlingquarter.com
There is a feast of film, fun and